

REPUBLIC OF LIBERIA
TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION COMMISSION

Volume Three:

APPENDICES

Title XII:

Towards National Reconciliation and Dialogues:
The Palava Hut or Peace Forums

Final Statement from the Commission

Nearly three and half years ago, we embarked upon a journey on behalf of the people of Liberia with a simple mission to explain how Liberia became what it is today and to advance recommendations to avert a repetition of the past and lay the foundation for sustainable national peace, unity, security and reconciliation. Considering the complexity of the Liberian conflict, the intractable nature of our socio-cultural interactions, the fluid political and fragile security environment, we had no illusion of the task at hand and, embraced the challenge as a national call to duty; a duty we committed ourselves to accomplishing without fear or favor.

Today, we have done just that! With gratitude to the Almighty God, the Merciful Allah and our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, we are both proud and honored to present our report to the people of Liberia, the Government of Liberia, the President of Liberia and the International Community who are “moral guarantors” of the Liberian peace process.

This report is made against the background of rising expectations, fears and anxiety. The vast majority of us who are victims or survivors of the massive wave of atrocities induced by the conflict, expect that all the recommendations contained in this report will be implemented and reparations in the forms of compensation, policy and institutional reforms, specialized services, restitution or financial relief, will address all our social, economic, cultural, civic and political rights issues, ensure accountability, undermine impunity and foster national healing and reconciliation.

The few of us who commanded the forces of arms, financed, resourced and provided political and ideological guidance to several warring factions, we fear alienation, prosecutions and other forms of public sanctions which may undermine our current socio-economic and political stature acquired during the conflict period.

Though this latter group of us equally desire national healing and reconciliation, it should be accomplished without any cost to our current standing and prestige. Bygones must be bygones. Having no regard for the rule of law, we ignored the TRC Process and when we opted to cooperate and appear before the Commission, we deliberately lied and failed to speak truthfully about the scale of our participation and deeds as a show of remorse and contrition which acknowledges the pains and sufferings of victims and triggers the national healing and reconciliation we profess to desire.

A true transitional justice process, as the TRC of Liberia, is never a perfect human endeavor; and will not satisfy all segments of our society. It is equally true that the TRC may never meet all the expectations or allay all the fears of contending interests it naturally arouses. Expectations, fears and anxieties, justifiably so, are products of the TRC process and not its outcome. The process is what justifies or legitimizes the product or the outcomes.

The outcome in this report is the product of deliberate planning and engagement with all segments of our society centering on all 15 counties of Liberia and the Diaspora. Capturing over 22,000 written statements, several dozens of personal interviews and over 500 hundred live public testimonies of witnesses including actors, perpetrators, and direct victims; a national regional consultation with county stakeholders and a national conference on reconciliation and the way forward provided the Commission a national perspective of the conflict, its causes, trends, impacts and the vision and aspirations of the people of Liberia for a better future. The Commission incorporated desk research, media publications and human rights reports of very prominent international and local human rights institutions into its work. So guided and informed, the Commission is well poised to make this report and draw the conclusions and make the recommendations contained in this report which in four volumes documents the comprehensive work of the Commission.

We extend appreciation to all, locally and internationally, who supported and worked with the Commission to ensure it succeeds at its mandate. We mention the Government of Her Excellency, Ellen Johnson-Sirleaf, the National Legislature including the House Standing committee on Peace and Reconciliation, The International Contact Group on Liberia (ICGL), Minnesota Advocates for Human Rights and the hundreds of volunteers across the USA, the media and dozens of civil society institutions, who were very interested and supportive of the process and lastly but not the least, the people of Liberia everywhere, not only for their support but most importantly for their abiding faith and confidence in the process and our ability to successfully navigate and pilot suavely through the many turbulences we encountered along the way.

We call on all to view this report and use it as a tool, blueprint and foundation for carving a better, brighter and more secured future for posterity. The purpose of our work was not necessarily to please anyone but to objectively and independently execute the mandates of the TRC realistically and objectively in patriotic service to the nation in unraveling the truth of our national nightmare. This report is our roadmap to liberation and lasting peace which means that reconciliation in Liberia is never again an elusive goal. It is both a possibility and a reality we must achieve by opening our hearts and accepting the realities and consequences of our national existence and move forward. This report is a contribution to that process and it is our prayers that all Liberians will see it that way and work for the full implementation of the recommendations without fear or favor or respect for any man. When we do this, the love of liberty “which brought us here” will “bring us together” under God’s Command so that this sweet and glorious land of liberty will forever be ours.

RECOMMENDATIONS ON ACCOUNTABILITY: NATIONAL "PALAVA HUT" PROGRAM

Thousands of former combatants were disarmed and demobilized pursuant to the Accra Comprehensive Peace Agreement (CPA) of 18th August 2003. In order to facilitate their reintegration into society, they were provided with an allowance referred to as the Transitional Settlement Allowance (TSA) and opportunities for education and skills training. According to UNMIL Statistics, 103,019 former combatants were disarmed, and 101,495 demobilized. Of this number about 98,000 demobilized former combatants received reintegration assistance in the form of vocational training and formal education.

Local leaders, victims and communities from around the country believed that the ex-combatants were rewarded rather than punished for committing widespread atrocities against them, while war victims and local communities were provided with no remedy or assistance. Such perceptions were informed to a large extent by the displayed arrogance and unremorseful attitudes exhibited by many ex-combatants and their leaders during Liberian's various episodes of armed conflict and reemphasized during the TRC hearings and consultations.

During public hearings conducted around the country, victims recounted the callousness and insouciance that ex-combatants have, since the cessation of hostilities, displayed in their interactions with local-host communities. It was not surprising therefore that during hearings victims made resounding calls for justice. But responding adequately to such calls is indeed fraught with difficulties. While the TRC has made concrete and substantive accountability recommendations, no court system, whether old or new, will be able to effectively prosecute the thousands of known perpetrators and alleged perpetrators, not including the unknown thousands whose identities are yet to be determined.

Moreover, the lack or absence of courts, resources, lawyers, penal institutions and police officers, in large parts of the country necessitates consideration of alternatives that would provide opportunity for reconciliation and justice. In this regard, the challenge will be finding the nexus between the shortcomings of the country's dual legal system and tailoring it to address the exigencies created by the need for justice, reconciliation, institutional reform, amnesty and reparation as a product of the TRC process. Consequently, the TRC firmly believes that the nation must engage traditional authority structures, civil society and human rights organizations, religious institutions and local communities to ensure that justice and reconciliation are more than rhetorical phrases.

The National Palaver Hut Program, common to rural communities around the country, is a conflict resolution mechanism wherein select members of integrity in the community adjudicate matters of grave concern to the community and seek to resolve disputes amongst or between individuals and or communities. Palava Hut derives legitimacy from a host of cultural influences including the Poro, Sande and Bodio institutions and has the greatest legitimacy and viability in rural areas. Decisions reached through Palava Hut are binding. This mechanism is adopted by the TRC to redress outstanding transitional grievances and create both the basis and opportunity to repair and restore broken relationships at the community and national levels.
Volume THREE, Title XII

The Palava Hut Program must be a transparent and well documented public process involving all levels of the Liberian society, playing multiple roles to the maximum extent feasible. It must involve community leaders and organizations, excluding any one known to be or perceived to be a human rights violator or corrupt official/officer in the past or present. Without limiting the generality of involvement, participation shall not be limited to civil society organizations, labor unions, victim groups, child advocacy groups, the children parliament, women organizations, youth and student organizations, professional bodies, religious and traditional institutions, etc.

Nature, Description, Objective, Jurisdiction, Sanction and pardoning Authority of Palava Hut

The Palava Hut is another form of justice and accountability mechanism with traditional orientation to foster national healing and reconciliation at the community and grass root levels creating the opportunity for dialogue and peace building. It requires that all perpetrators, their associates, warlords, financiers, organizers, activists; whether named or not in the TRC report but who have committed some wrong including assaults, destruction of property, forced displacement, looting, robbery, extortion, etc. appear before it. Also appearing are persons recommended for public sanctions and prosecution in the TRC Final Report, Volume II, Consolidated Report. Those 38 persons not recommended for prosecution in section 12.4 of Vol. II, though not subject to Palava Hut sanctions, may appear before it at their own volition, notwithstanding they may be listed herein.

The purpose of the Palava Hut is also to afford anyone who has committed a wrong or crime, whether knowingly or unknowingly, against an individual or the state, to admit the wrongful act and seek pardon from the people of Liberia through the Palava Hut.

The jurisdiction of the Palava Hut to render pardon shall be limited to public sanctions for supporting warring groups, factions and lesser crimes only. Persons recommended for prosecution in the TRC Report for the commission of high crimes i.e. crimes against humanity, war crimes, international human rights and humanitarian law violations are not entitled to pardon by the Palava Hut. Any recommendation from the Palava

Hut in favor of any one accused of the commission of economic crimes or a high crime, i.e. war crimes, humanitarian law violations and gross human rights violations or persons recommended for prosecution in the TRC Report (Volume II, Consolidated Report) shall be made to a court of competent jurisdiction or the Head of State.

The Palava Hut shall have tenure of not less than three years and not more than five years. For worthy cause, the tenure of the Palava Hut in particular district or locale may be extended upon recommendation from the Independent National Human Rights Commission (INHRC) to the Head of State. The Palava Hut may be established by Executive Order and subsequently enhanced or supported by statute so as to expeditiously commence the process off community and individual reconciliation.

The Palava Hut shall be established in all Statutory Districts and may extend to towns or villages as the need may arise. "National 'Palava Hut' Committees", once established, will serve as a traditional quasi-judicial forum for justice and reconciliation that provide: (1) persons and communities in the rural areas with a nationally recognized mechanism to seek redress for crimes committed against them and participate in and resolve long-standing conflicts and claims; (2) victims and communities with a community based public venue to confront perpetrators and alleged perpetrators that committed crimes against them in further pursuit of justice, closure, reconciliation and healing; (3) perpetrators and alleged perpetrators with yet another public forum to acknowledge their wrongs, apologize, seek forgiveness and make atonement for the crimes committed; (4) reparation to victims and communities; and (5) public sanctions to promote justice and accountability generally and specifically.

The Independent National Human Rights Commission shall oversee the Palava Hut process and coordinate its activities. Upon request, the INHRC may review a decision by any Palava Hut Committee or Forum.

Names of Those Responsible (Perpetrators) Recommended for Palava Hut

Anyone who has committed, any wrongful act or crime associated with the Liberian civil war, (1979 -2003) whether knowingly or unknowingly, against anyone or the state may seek pardon from the people of Liberia through the Palava Hut. In the case of those subject to public sanctions the number of debarred years may be reduced or waived. In the case of those recommended for prosecution for economic crimes and high crimes including international human rights and humanitarian law violations and war crimes, any recommendation in their favor must consider restitution of all gains made during the conflict period ending 2003 and other forms of compensation and restitution for victim.

In the case of those equally situated for prosecution or public sanctions and are not listed herein, the Palava Hut shall pronounce any range of public sanctions (see section 14.2 of TRC Final Report, Volume II, Consolidated Report) within its discretion to the extent that the Palava Hut Program shall ensure that there shall be no impunity or blanket amnesty. A full listing of persons recommended for Palava Hut is contained in TRC Final Report, Volume III, Title XII. This listing is however, by no means exhaustive, provided that persons named in the “Not Recommended for Prosecution” category in the TRC Report may avail themselves to the Palava Hut process pursuant to its stated objectives.

Public Sanctions, Lustrations, debarment from holding Public Office, etc

Anyone who has committed, any wrongful act associated with the Liberian civil war, whether knowing or unknowingly, whether listed or not, against another individual, group or the state, and refused to take advantage of the Palava Hut process, as a peace building and reconciliation initiative, will be subject to public sanctions, lustrations, debarment from holding public office for life, civil actions and criminal prosecution in a court of competent jurisdiction, now or in the future, at the behest of the state or an individual.

Other forms of Accountability – traditional and Informal Mechanisms

The INHRC may sanction other traditional, cultural, ethnic and informal mechanisms for justice and accountability as part of the Palava hut mechanism which may impose penalties and sanctions as local culture, traditions and customs may warrant, provided that any such other traditional mechanism other than the Palava hut shall apply to members only or persons holding such “traditional or cultural” affiliation or beliefs.

The list contained herein includes persons identified by the TRC process from statements and testimonies of witnesses as committing one form of violation or another. They are therefore, required to participate in the Palava Hut peace and reconciliation forum around the country in the county or counties in which they operated or committed wrongs during the conflict.
